than 60 months. The extension of time for recovery is contingent on the following considerations:

- (1) the purchaser of the facility has demonstrated to the satisfaction of the commissioners of health and human services that the facility will be operated in accordance with the reimbursement system. The purchaser must provide documentation to verify access to funds to purchase the facility, access to appropriate lines of credit to cover anticipated and unanticipated operating costs, cash flow projections which provide a realistic estimate of expenses and income, and other financial information that might be required by the commissioners to determine whether a license should be granted;
- (2) the cost of continued operation under the receivership while residents are relocated has been estimated to equal or exceed $500,000;
- (3) the purchaser has demonstrated that the purchase of the facility and the ongoing operation of the facility will not occur without the decision to forego the recovery of the receivership funds, that the former owner of the facility does not financially benefit by the sale of the facility, and that the entities with financial interests in the nursing home land and building have taken substantial losses; and
- (4) the closure of the facility will require the relocation of a majority of residents to facilities in different counties."

Responders may demonstrate service to a range of client needs, including clients who need home care following hospital stays, chronic care clients, high users of health care services, persons at risk of nursing home placement, and other persons identified by the commissioner as likely to be served in a cost-effective manner.

(b) The commissioner shall collect any reports, preliminary results, or final recommendations from efforts to evaluate effectiveness of the telemedicine devices, including evidence of improved patient access to care by eliminating or reducing nursing personnel travel time, reduced emergency room visits, reduced hospitalization costs, improved use of home therapies, reduced nursing home admissions, and early discharge from nursing facilities. This information and a recommendation regarding whether telemedicine devices should be a covered service under medical assistance shall be forwarded to the legislature by December 15, 1996."

(a) to license or certify a new bed in place of one decertified after July 1, 1993, as long as the number of certified plus newly certified or recertified beds does not exceed the number of beds licensed or certified on July 1, 1993, or to address an extreme hardship situation, in a particular county that, together with all contiguous Minnesota counties, has fewer nursing home beds per 1,000 elderly than the number that is ten percent higher than the national average of nursing home beds per 1,000 elderly individuals. For the purposes of this section, the national average of nursing home beds shall be the most recent figure that can be supplied by the federal health care financing administration and the number of elderly in the county or the nation shall be determined by the most recent federal census or the most recent estimate of the state demographer as of July 1, of each year of persons age 65 and older, whichever is the most recent at the time of the request for replacement. An extreme hardship situation can only be found after the county documents the existence of unmet medical needs that cannot be addressed by any other alternatives;

(b) to certify or license new beds in a new facility that is to be operated by the commissioner of veterans affairs or when the costs of constructing and operating the new beds are to be reimbursed by the commissioner of veterans affairs or the United States Veterans Administration;

(c) to license or certify beds in a facility that has been involuntarily delicensed or decertified for participation in the medical assistance program, provided that an application for relicensure or recertification is submitted to the commissioner within 120 days after delicensure or decertification; or

(d) to certify two existing beds in a facility with 66 licensed beds on January 1, 1994, that had an average occupancy rate of 98 percent or higher in both calendar years 1992 and 1993, and which began construction of four attached assisted living units in April 1993; or
